About Terry Aske

An award-winning art quilter, Terry has been designing and creating quilts since 1998. Her art quilts have been juried into national and international exhibits, and published in well known magazines. Many of her pieces are in private collections.

I am a textile artist - I create art with fabric, thread and a sewing machine. I use a variety of techniques, and create both realistic and abstract pieces.

The design of a piece always evolves during the creative process, and the final quilt is often quite different from my original concept.

My quilts have been published in well known books and magazines, and juried into many national and international exhibits and shows. I'm pleased to say that I have won awards in both the artistic and modern categories.

I find inspiration all around me - the colors in a garden or landscape, the shape of a building, the design of a wrought-iron gate - any of these could stir my creative impulse. I try to make notes or take pictures whenever I see something that inspires me.

I love sharing the tips and techniques that I have developed, discovered and/or refined during the years I've been quilting, both on my blog and through workshops.
